

THE SALT LAKE HERALD

Published Every Day in the Year
BY THE HERALD COMPANY

Terms of Subscription.
DAILY AND SUNDAY—One month, $3.00; three months, $8.00; one year, $28.00.
SUNDAY—One year, $2.00.
SEMI-WEEKLY—(In advance), one year, $1.50; six months, 75 cents.
Subscribers wishing address of paper changed must give former as well as present address.
All papers are continued until explicit order is received to discontinue. All arrears must be paid in every case.

Total Copies of The Herald Printed in August, 1908.

1	9,220	17	9,454
2	13,249	18	9,437
3	9,179	19	9,455
4	9,499	20	9,508
5	9,398	21	9,488
6	9,447	22	9,559
7	9,399	23	18,794
8	9,313	24	9,599
9	9,319	25	9,610
10	9,327	26	9,529
11	9,378	27	9,719
12	9,378	28	9,772
13	9,457	29	18,651
14	9,459	30	9,796
15	18,292
Total daily			246,221
Total Sunday			52,169
Daily average			9,470
Sunday average			18,422

Largest Daily and Sunday Circulation in Salt Lake proved by investigation.

WEATHER FOR SALT LAKE.

Fair.

AMUSEMENTS TODAY.
Orpheum—Matinee and night, vaudeville.
Grand—Matinee and night, "The Dairy Farm."
Lyric—Matinee and night, the Camera-phone.

THE METALS.
Silver, 5 1/4c per ounce.
Copper (cathodes), 13 1/2c per pound.
Lead, 4 1/2c per 100 pounds.

FINANCE AND POLITICS.

After a spasmodic effort to galvanize the stock market into a semblance of its old-time activity, the powers that rule in Wall street have given it up and reports published yesterday show that conditions are just what might have been expected. The general public has drawn out of the street because it is economizing, because it has lost confidence in the methods of the manipulators, and because common business sense indicates the need of conservatism. No nation can recover in six months or a year from such a shock as this country had last fall; and there is no way of recovery except by the old-fashioned ways of prudence, retrenchment and a cessation of reckless outlay.

As a matter of fact, the notion that a sudden restoration of prosperity could be induced by merely saying prosperity had returned, was largely a political effort to show that the party in power was not responsible for last year's panic; and that it wasn't much of a panic anyway. The movement failed because investors pay little attention to political dodges and a good deal to cold facts when they are considering values. They see that railroad earnings have fallen off, that manufacturing activity is curtailed, that the steel and iron trade, always a barometer of trade conditions, is not in a healthy state. Naturally, they prefer to let their money lie idle or to place it in some form of security that carries no risk of depreciation until such time as the tide of prosperity will rise from the force of genuinely substantial production.

All of the facts in the financial situation have been known for months to those who were honest in their views. None but the interested tried to obscure the truth and tempt the public into speculation or uncertain investment by predicting an immediate and inflated rise in values. The trend is upward, to be sure, but the road over the hill is a steep grade, the load is heavy, particularly for those tremendous interests bound up in railroad and other securities which have been attacked and discredited by the national administration.

It will take months, possibly a year or two, to get back to the zenith of 1906 and the early part of 1907; and meanwhile the party and the men responsible for a panic in times of tremendous prosperity will have to face the responsibility with no hope of evasion.

AN INTERESTING PARALLEL.

West Virginia Republicans have a situation on their hands which suggests a curious parallel with the Smoot-American row over the electoral ticket in Utah. There are two factions in the state, one a regular machine outfit, the other composed of men who have revolted against the machine's methods. Both have named tickets, but the "regulars," controlling the party name, refuse to permit the other faction to place the names of the Taft electors on their ticket.

Foreseeing the certainty of Democratic victory and the loss of the state for Taft if a compromise is not effected, the Republican national committee has a sub-committee investigating with a view to a settlement of some sort. In West Virginia, as in Utah, the machine leaders evidently prefer to endanger their national ticket rather than lose control of the local offices and fat patronage which comes as a sequel of domination. There, as here, the machine has ridden roughshod over all opposition within the party until it is confronted with defeat by revolt within the ranks.

In both states there is a chance for the triumph of decency and Democracy this year.

IDAHO'S CANNED TICKET.

As an expression of esteem and admiration for Theodore Roosevelt, and as a mark of approval for his policies, the Republicans of Idaho in state convention assembled have named for reelection to the senate Senator Heyburn, one of the most persistent opponents of Roosevelt's policies. Further, from partisan reports, it is inferred that the Idaho Republicans endorse Heyburn's hostility to the president's forest reserve policy and approve enthusiastically of the disposition which has been made of the state's most valuable timber lands on the advice and counsel of another Idaho senator. Needless to say, the convention proceedings contain no reference to that great and widely-heralded movement inaugurated by the president for the conservation of the nation's resources, possibly because some good timber lands yet remain to be absorbed by the lumber interests which have done so much to promote the cause of Republicanism in Idaho.

Altogether, the convention was a joyous occasion, an inspiring sight for the plain people whose interests have been guarded so carefully by Heyburn and Borah and Brady. The principal nominations had been made in advance of the convention—as is proper in any orthodox Republican convention these days, and the slate, with one exception, went through with a precision and smoothness quite as beautiful as the operation of Mr. Hitchcock's famous road-roller in the Chicago ratification meeting.

Mr. French, who was supposed to have a sure thing for renomination to congress, was dropped down the elevator shaft with the celerity and indifference to the victim's feelings which characterizes Idaho politics. Just what hit him does not appear in the published reports, but it was sufficiently effective.

Whether the people of Idaho will be as unanimous in electing the nominees remains to be seen. In the meanwhile it is worth noting that Mr. Heyburn has views of his own as to the questions on which a convention may be permitted to act. As he sees it, a state convention may properly name him for the senatorial seat, but it may not commit the party to local option or direct vote or any other issue on which he fears the result of a popular vote.

Encouraged by dissensions among the Democrats, the Republicans of Idaho are naturally elated over their prospect of victory. Possibly as the day of judgment approaches they may have occasion to restrain their joy; certainly there is nothing in the personnel of the cut-and-dried ticket, or in the platform drawn by and for the large special interests of the state which are profligate by Republican domination, to excite enthusiasm among the voters.

With the Short Line-San Pedro station going up and the Western Pacific station plans enlarged; with the mines booming and building humming, Salt Lake is paying mighty little attention to what the outside world thinks of the financial situation.

Mr. Roosevelt is not going to be dragged into the New York fight for the gubernatorial nomination, but any federal official who ventures to oppose Hughes might as well send in his resignation before the convention meets.

The Hon. A. J. Beveridge, the spell-binder of White River, says he is going to limit his campaign speeches this year to 2,000 words. It wouldn't take that many to tell that Albert has to say that is worth hearing.

When Jake Greenwald and Harry Joseph get to disputing as to which is the duly constituted custodian of the Republican party in Utah, it would seem to be about time for the rest of the party to take to the hills.

This is the day upon which the Republican campaign in Ohio is to be opened at Youngstown. Hughes and Beveridge as speakers and Senators Foraker and Dick as pantomime.

Mr. Spry must find it a great advantage to have that salary as marshal coming in the while he seeks votes for the nomination as governor on his little fishing trips around the state.

Two of the three reservoirs which supply Johnstown, Pa., with water have run dry. Once upon a time Johnstown had too much water.

A young man in New York made a bet that he could eat glass. He won, but the amount of the wager was insufficient to cover funeral expenses.

The time has arrived for Rawhide, Nev., to go into the phoenix business, that thriving mining camp having been baptized by fire.

Chairman Hitchcock went to Indianapolis yesterday to consult with Vice President Fairbanks concerning the campaign. What an enthusiastic meeting that must have been.

Mr. Taft may be strong on black bass angling, but Bryan has him distanced as a fisher of men.

What is so beautiful as a Salt Lake day in September?

SOCIETY

The social program of the season at the Country club will end as to its formal arrangement today, with a table d'hôte dinner and the usual Saturday night dance. The autumn time will be devoted more to the athletic side of club life, and the games will take up the better part of the time. The duties of the social committee, however, will practically end with the last dance of the summer season tonight.

Miss Annie McCormick entertained a dozen friends at the Country club yesterday at a luncheon for the Misses Severance of Los Angeles, who are visitors in the city. The large round table was arranged with purple and white asters, and the guests, besides the Misses Severance, were Mrs. Raymond Masson, Mrs. S. C. Adams of Denver, Mrs. Leslie L. Savage, Miss Florence Kimball, Miss Genevieve McCormick, Mrs. George Ross, Miss Gertrude McGrath, Mrs. John E. Woodward and Mrs. Union Worthington.

Jasper McCaskell will entertain this evening at a dinner at the Alta club for the Misses Severance of Los Angeles. The same out-of-town visitors will be guests of honor at a dinner dance to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Walker at their country home in Cottonwood, and at another similar affair given by Miss Katherine Judge Wednesday night at The Cobble.

Mrs. J. A. Greenwald entertained a friends yesterday afternoon at bridge, three tables being filled with the players. The prizes were won by Mrs. Jacob Moritz, Mrs. Wetz and Mrs. Wertheimer. The hostess was assisted by Miss Daisy Kuhn of Ogden, who spent the day with her.

Benner X. Smith is back after a short stay at Long Beach, Cal. Mrs. Smith and Miss Margaret McClure will return the latter part of next week and will go on to New York, where Miss McClure will enter school.

Mrs. Edwin F. Holmes received yesterday afternoon for her first at-home day for a long period. A great many of her friends took advantage of the afternoon to make calls, and the Amelia Palace was a gay scene for some hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrie K. Masters, who have been in London for some time, will sail from Liverpool, Sept. 12, for Valparaiso, South America, making an ocean voyage of some six weeks.

Mrs. Robert C. Gemmell and her sister, Miss Anderson, are in Paris spending some time.

Mrs. James L. Franken spent yesterday in Ogden, the guest of Miss Minnie Kiesel.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester D. Freed, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cunningham, Mrs. June Sadler, Donnell and John S. Critchley will go to Brighton today to remain over the week-end as guests of the Ferry family.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lake will be in their new home on East Brigham street by Oct. 1.

Mrs. Burl Arbaugh, who with her two children is with her mother in Mobile, Ala., will not return till some time in the early winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn S. Gilham are at home till Sept. 19 at No. 9 Emery flats, after which time they will move into their apartments in the Cummings.

Mrs. W. H. Monahan will leave in a week for Watertown arsenal, Massachusetts, where she will spend the winter with Captain and Mrs. William P. Platt, U. S. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Oliver of Bingham have been spending a few days in town recently.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Eldredge have moved and are now at home at 153 North Main street.

James McGregor will entertain at a dinner Sunday evening at the Alta club in honor of Miss Eva Madden.

The meeting of the Cup and Sauter club set for yesterday was postponed till Tuesday next, when it will be held with Mrs. Sam C. Park and Miss Park.

Mrs. Joel L. Priest will be the guest of honor today at a tea given by Mrs. E. V. Silver.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Wells and their daughter, Miss Abbie Wells, left Thursday for the east to spend the winter in Boston.

Mrs. Sam Park and Miss Margaret Park went to Ogden yesterday morning, to be guests of Miss Minnie Kiesel.

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Holman returned yesterday after spending the summer in the northwest.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Holden have moved and are now at home at 68 P street.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.
J. L. Frimage, American Fork; Edna A. Chipman, American Fork.
Abraham H. Cannon, Salt Lake; Bertha Hansen, Salt Lake.

A NEWS STORY.
(London Spare Moments.)
Managing Editor (to reporter)—Are you engaged to be married, Mr. Scarehead?
Mr. Scarehead—Er—yes, sir.
Managing Editor—Kindly draw on the office for 40 shillings, get married immediately, and let me have two columns on "Married Life in a Great City" by 12 o'clock. And—congratulations.

WHAT WILLIE SAW.
(The Delineator.)
When Willie saw a peacock for the first time he said to his mother, "Oh, mamma, you should have seen it! Electric lights all over the ferns and a turkey underneath!"

DEFINES ITSELF.
(Nashville American.)
"He announces the arrival and departure of trains at the Union station. Is that a trade or a profession?"
"Neither: it is a calling."

Does not Color the Hair

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

Keith-O'Brien Co

Bright, New Merchandise Means Heavy Shopping in All of Our Departments

Sale of School Handkerchiefs

A new idea is the embroidered handkerchief. It is hemstitched very dainty, and is already a big seller, being really an imitation of expensive ones. It can be laundered with safety. All white. An ideal school handkerchief—6 1/4c.

A beautiful initial handkerchief, sheer and dainty with a cross line around the border. 20c—3 for 50c.

School children's colored bordered handkerchiefs—5c.

In the event of dissatisfaction notify one of the men on the floor. The matter will be adjusted to your satisfaction.

Men's Corner--Saturday

Flannel Night Robes—Sizes from 15 to 20. Price from 50 cts to $1.50. These robes are made of best French and Outing Flannel.

Fall Shirts are arriving daily. Some of the best patterns sell $1.25.

Bat Ties, 2 for 25 cts.

Our New Fall line of Neckwear is in. Snappy and gentle patterns, 50 and 75 cts.

A saving of a few cents to a quarter on little priced articles makes it worth while to come to this store.

BOYS' SCHOOL SUITS

A SURPLUS STOCK OF FALL AND WINTER WEIGHTS AT ABOUT HALF REGULAR PRICE

This has been a week in our boys' department. Parents who have investigated this sale have invariably purchased one or more suits, because no one can fail to see that this sale is an exceptional opportunity. A few sizes are about sold out, but we still have about one hundred suits for Saturday's selling.

$2.25 $3.25 $4.25

ALMOST EVERY SUIT IS WORTH DOUBLE

VERY SPECIAL FOR SATURDAY: World-famous Models, Faultless Tailor Made Fall Suits at $15 and $25.00.

DIRECTOIRE EMPIRE SUIT: A New, Snappy, Original Tailor Made French Model. Correct Portrayal of the Directoire Period.

The highest style of art tailoring. A most effective suit in a gorgeous range of fine all-wool materials, comprising plain broadcloths, self striped broadcloth, mannish striped worsted, chevron chevrons and one hundred different new cloths, in all the new colorings and black.

We have all the newest models, at $15.00 and $25.00. A price within the reach of everybody.

The newest French model Directoire Suits—$15.00.

Going Away to School?

Take a box of good stationery with you. 35c to 45c Eaton Hurlbut's box papers for 25c. 50c and 60c Eaton Hurlbut's box papers for 35c. 65c and 75c Eaton Hurlbut's box papers for 45c. 15c envelopes for 10c package, or 3 for 25c. 15c Eaton Hurlbut's Highland Linen Bond and New York linen Tablets—for 10c.

20c size, same quality as above—for 15c. 25c size, same quality as above—for 20c.

Entire stock of Eaton Hurlbut's papers included in this sale.

Hurlbut's Pound Papers

The Highland linen bond—one pound to the box. Sold elsewhere at 50c and 60c a pound. Sale price—40c pound. Envelopes to match. Regular 15c package—for 10c package.

All day Saturday—if it lasts that long

Dr. I. W. Lyon's Tooth Powder. Regular price—25c. Sale price 15c a can. Only two cans to a customer.

Six of the best odors in imported perfumes—for 50c an ounce.

Just for a flyer—items from the notion section

A 15c box of shell hair pins—for 5c a box. And a 2 1/2c spool darning cotton—for 1c.

Saturday in the candy section

Cream filled dates, cream wafers and cocoanut caramels—for 15c pound.

Choice candy for the children because it's not too rich.

Saturday Shoe Specials

Last Oxford Special

$2.00 Your choice of any pair of our summer stock of oxfords, values $3.50 to $6.00. All styles pumps and oxfords, included.

$1.95 Misses' and Children's school shoes that wear and have style.

85c Infants' slippers on bargain tables—all styles, they were $1.25 and $1.50.

Saturday Waist Special

Beautiful fall silk waists, in all colors, plain, stripes and plaids. Tailored waists in colored linen—very dressy; also plain linens; long sleeves; tailored collar and cuffs.

Splendid bargains in tailored waists—slightly soiled. Your choice—$1.35 and $1.95.

We have a few lingerie waists left, which we will offer at a sacrifice. Hand embroidery and lace trimmed.

This store grows because it undersells.

Program for Saturday Evening.

- (1) Louisiana Purchase Exposition march ... F. H. Losey
- (2) Madley Overture, "A Jolly Night" ... F. Beyer
- (3) "Wine, Woman and Song" Waltz ... Joh Strauss
- (4) "Across the Hot Sands," Intermezzo and Two-Step ... J. W. Leaman
- (5) The Palms ... R. E. Hildreth
- (6) "Paseeta" valse Espanol ... R. E. Hildreth
- (7) "Jolly Me Along," Two-Step ... Joh Strauss
- (8) "Simplicius," Waltz ... Joh Strauss
- (9) "By the Watermelon Vine," Schottische ... Thos. S. Allen
- (10) "Poker Pete," Characteristic March ... J. W. Lerman
- (11) Daughter of the Sea, Waltz ... Heintzman
- (12) "Golden Rod," Intermezzo ... Mabel McKinley